

From Pages to Society: Literature as Cultural Discourse

Ms. P. Kavya

Assistant Professor, Department of English, St. Antony's College of Arts and Sciences for Women, (Autonomous)

Manuscript ID:

BIJ-SPL5-MAR26-MD-024

Subject: English Studies

Received : 18.02.2026

Accepted : 12.03.2026

Published : 14.03.2026

DOI: 10.64938/bij.v10si5.26.Mar024

Copy Right:

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0 International License.

Abstract

Literature is it be the reflection of the society and in a fact it also been recognized mirroring the leaves of the people living in the society. Literature in deed also reflects the good and ill of the society. Being consider as an imitation of human action it often projects a picture of people about what they think what they say and what they do and the society. Electric share we can find so many genres as they include stories novels dramas etc as the designed to pictures human life and action throw the characterization of who they are, and it also convey some messages for the well being of the living includes good values of the Literature works to transport the real life events in the society into the fictional world to presenting it to the society not merely as literature of words but also reflect the society of what it is. Does the literature is not only reflecting for the society as but also it serves as a mirror in which the people of the society can correct themselves and seek the need of positive life.

Keywords: language, literature, communication, emotion, society.

Literature exceptionally plays an important role from the history, as it expose societal realities. The purpose of literature is to record and influence people's thought process it help us to revitalize and record thoughts and feelings of our mind. To connect people through literature languages place a crucial role. With the usage of language we are connecting and creating literature. For example if we read a poem which reflex the poets thought and feeling well reading the poem we get into the interest on the feeling for the poet has insisted in. With the help of literature the bond of association is form between man and man through language. As Literature, cannot be form for certain age group as it belongs to any age from the influence of society affairs and of course it reflects the society of many ages.

Literature also reflects different types of people belong to different period. For example, in Geoffrey Chaucer's Canterbury Tales the author reflects different characteristics in his tales as the representation of different classes of people during his time. The biggest drawback of the Treasure is it brings changes who read. Many people don't have the habit of reading books certainly fails to realize the impact of what the literature creates. Literature makes us to deeply realize and analyze the mistakes of our life and also bring solution that is characterization. Literature creates people and approach to think individually and even expand the opinion towards the society. Different theories are derived in Literature as the reflection of the society. Through the diverse theoretical analysis people can evaluate their living. For example, Sigmund Freud, reflects humans psychology what has concept of Oedipus complex, Id, Ego and Super Ego. Maybe in society many things are UN spoken and hidden, but in Literature one can out spoke his person feeling through his writings. It is necessary for individual to connect his life with the larger truth and ideas of the society. So that the human can be came to get introduce to the diverse ideas of the society.

Literature from its classical to modern age creates a big impact in a society in terms of gender biasedness to gender equality. Many women writers wrote about the rights and the problems situations faced in their lives. For example Jane Eyre by Charlotte Bronte, Pride and Prejudice by Jane Austen. Literature help us to connect analyze different characters through which we can connect. For example a people in young age read novels of the 20th century or novels written during World War time they can conclude with the thought of the leaves and the situation of the people lives in the era of lot of bloodshed and depression all around. When people read Dramas and novels of the 19th century they find the richness of the art and writing and love for literature and Nature.

If we speak about William Shakespeare who is known as the greatest drama test of the English literature he as an individual person has coined various words which is being used in our life. Shakespeare explored the beauty and the culture of the society of his days. His most characters of his drama are a mere reflection where every human can connect with. For example in his play Othello he serves as a symbol of Jealous and the character Desdemona serves as a symbol of kindness and Iago as a symbol of selfishness. Charles Dickens who shows the backstage of the industrialization in his novels he pictures the suffering of the power and the workers. All this exposure of the writers through the literature people came to know about the actual living of the people in the world increase a bridge of understanding of Once life and brings the thought of treating people with equality.

Literature portrays everyday lives corn flakes and issues of our action it also showcase the words used and model of a society by allowing readers to witness what is good and what is need for the improvement. To novels Pro essays stories literature allow us to analyze human behavior and societal structures and sometimes it reveals the unspoken truth of people. Writers use literature as a tool to critic the norms of the society to lead awareness and to bring potential changes by highlighting injustices to inspire human. Literature also encourages critical thinking of a human by reading literature it encourages people to think critically by exploring us to different ideas and ways to think

Literature encourages people to analyze literary text in which we develop the ability to think deeply to question the instincts and create our own opinions. It also helps us to see the world in a new perspective by encouraging us to see our own imagination to come up with new ideas. Finally literature gives a form of escapism that brings beneficiary to our mental health through reading we can transport to different places and allowing us to forget our problems and concerns temporary. Literature place an important role in society by creating empty critical thinking creativity by reading and analyzing literature we can broaden our perspectives expand our thoughts and gain a deep knowledge.

Literature also serves as a gateway of learning at an asset expands the knowledge to understand the world. Literature is the foundation of thoughts and feelings as it emphasis on human emotions like happiness, sorrows, anger hatred, jealous, envy, love etc., all this connect human relationship being a torch bearer literature helped in civilization to overcome the darkness. Without literature man would may mere wild beast, because the literature brings human an empathy and understanding.

By reading any genre of literature or even a simple piece of literary work It allows the reader to open a gateway to an unbound imagination and allowing us to grow Intellectually. Literature opens our inner eyes and sees beyond what the front door shows. Literature also enables people to witness through the lenses of other and sometimes allow us to imagine beyond imagination. Literature is nearly a glass into which we can see the world of others in others view. It provides a lesson for life an entertainment and also the experience of others through which we can change our livings in a better way.

In conclusion, it is reliable that literature is a mere reflection of human life. Through literature a man can learn and make his life his life to travel in a better pathway. Every writer in literature writes with responsibility, holding a massive response in shaping the society. Thus the literature plays a vital role in shaping human life of what is good and bad through the characterization the works. In a nutshell we need to accept that the literature is not only meant for communication but also serves as an bridge to connect people through pages to the society, and also to educate people with the knowledge of living. In the era of mechanism, there is no better way than reading which gives a direct change in one's life. Literature also knows the need of the human thrust and gives pleasure in reading by shaping the lives of the people.

References

- Adams, Hazard. Critical Theory Since Plato. Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, New York: 1971.
- Burke, Kenneth. "Literature as Equipment for Living." Critical Theory Since Plato. Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, New York: 1971.
- Das, Sisir Kumar. A Timeline of English Literature in India: 1800-1910 Western Impact: Indian Response.

Websources

- http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lyrical_Ballads www.shodhganga.inflibnet.ac.in <https://literariness.org/2016/04/16/freudian-psychoanalysis/>
www.jstor.org